[From the Detroit Advertises, 20th.]

The contractors of the Canal improvementa received a letter resterday from their agent, Mr. E. Clark, dated Saut Ste. Marie, Feb. 20. It furnishes the latest authentic intelligence. It states the work to be in such progress that the opening of the canal can be looked for with cerother makes, keep about four hundred hand employed. These efforts have, of course, best without effect, save to stimulate the contractor to greater exertions.

A letter has also been received from Mr Chapel, dated Danean's Mills, Feb. 27th. We stated a day or two since that he was not at the Sant, and in his letter he says he would be there by the 1st of March. He had employed masons who had been at work on the Sheboygan Liquis House, and had made arrangements to get a number of laborers at Mackinae. He had employed a man and dog train to so expedite him and party that he was certain of being at the Saut on the day he had named.

These facts speak for themselves, and there is bot one conclusion, viz: that the canal will be open at the time we have stated?

The steamboat Sea Bird, Capt. Bledgett will leave for Detour, next Monday, with an additional force of mem for the canal.

Phase — A Warlike Prospect.
[Correspondence of the N. T. Fribus.]

Napoleog opened yesterday the so called French Legislature, and Lord of John Russell brought in the Reform kill. The Emperor's apsech is the more important of the two events. He wand openly enough, that an important portion of the Convention at Villafrance and for the treaty of Zurich is already antiquated, is fact, that if was affilborn: that is tosay, the astional Administration of Venetic on one side, and the restoration of the American princes on the other, that if was affilborn: that is tosay, the astional Administration of Venetic on one side, and the restoration of the American princes on the other restoration of the American princes of the Yope; that is, and paying him a liberal civil list. As to Tuscany by the Emperor wished to maintain the "astonomy" of the State, though he leaves to the King of Sardinia full liberty of action, but delares that he will not follow his policy if he choose to annex Tuscany. By this he probably mean that in such a case he would withdraw his army from Lembardy, an eventuality very much desired by all the triends of Italy.

Lastiy, Napoleon declares that he claims "the French slopes of the Aips," which includes Nice as well as Savoy. He reminds the Pope of the Romagua, and winds up by asping that the commercial treaty with England has for its object the improvement of the lot of the greatest number. With this Benthamite sentiment he closes his memorable speech. English correspondents and Italian alarmiats, who always denounce Napoleon and still believe that he means will once more declare their unanimous vote for the throne of Tuscany, whether it is to be the Duke of Genoa, nephew to Victor Emmanuel, aboy sky years old, or Prince Lacien Bonaparte, Duke of Genoa, nephe voted as follows:

THE GODE.

THE OCCUPATION OF THE CODE.

This peculiarly interesting and romastic place is no small part of the suburban scenery and beauty of Colorado city. It is situated about it miles northwest of iown, and has been varieted and admired by mountaineera and tidans for ages. I cannot describe it and de anything like justice to it for it goes beyond and beggars my power of description. It is a very palse of a place. There are some 100 acres of a green relvet laws within—forming an amphitheatre, surrounded by huge red-rock conical hils, four hundred feet high, among which is the "Care of the Gods," large enough to hold and seat a hundred persons—including a filty por cent, proportion of females, provisied they are anywise at all christianly crinolined. On entering this peculiar "garden," the observer will find himself as it were in a vast amphitheatre, formed by ranges of red and white rock pryramids and ridges, covered on their topmost peaks here and there with pines and evergreens, from some of which, four hundred feet above, the elk and meuntain sheep look down in high and proud security, goodness only knowing how and whence they ever get there. The arens within is dotted with beds of mountain flowers and daises, even in the middle of winter. Parts of the surrounding scenery and ridges give strong-evidence of its having been at some day the focus or theatre, near which the bellowing fires of a mighty convalisive catastrophe heaved high up into singular shape those craggy summits and was ward ridges, opening great revices and cavities to untold depths, and filling them with mneared deposits, in sidelong, chequered ranges, through this whole region of country. William H. Garvin, Eag., owns the above 'garden classma,' and has creeted a beaus thereupon. He intends making it a great fashionable record in the summer, and have incer of omnibuser run up there, are route to the springs, a few persance to the mammota cave, which improvements will

Great expesse has been and will be incurred by the landiords, in changing the whole furniture and arrangements of their establishments, so as to provide for the entertainment of a much larger sumber of guests. For instance, the Charleston Hotel will be fitted to afford comportable "bad and board" for 1,000 guests, whereas, tunder its present organization, 306 would absorb its occumentations. Large rents, too, have been path by them for outside houses for guests. In additions, heavy outlays have been and will be made on contracts and purchases of supplies to feed the thousands expected. Already do they suffer enhanced expesses from increased price in all marks with penses from increased price in all market a cles, arising from a holding back by the mar men of mest, &c., for the Convention period fish ends, and indifferent alike to her people, their sentiments and interests! And thousands of them, too, of such character and misaners that if they were to come here, individually, again and again, it would never be thought, by a respectable man of our city, to admit any of them within his doors. During the presence of that promicious crowd the private doors of Charlesion will never have been so tightly shut and carefully guarded as then. She will copier more westching than hospitality upon the "camp fol.owers," who have come to swarm at the a saembling of a National Convention.

Of the threat to go elsewhere, the Charleston editor says: Of the threat to go elsewhere, the Charleston editor says;

Would it not be amusing if the Committee did make the call, say, to New York, and the Northern delegations meet there, and the Southern delegations, adhering strictly, as is their wors, to authority and usage met at Oharleston? Would it not be a prepitious political event? The South, consisting of onearly all the Democratic States, consisting of the true Democracy, would lay down a consitutional platform, nominate a proper stateman for the Presidency, and the unacropulous unsoundness of the Northern Democracy being cloughed off into the New York body, (representing nothing but them selves) would once more unfur the constitution-selves) would once more unfur the constitution-

ANSWER TO HUGH MILLER AND THEORETIC GEOLOGISTS. By TROMAN A DATEM. New York: Rudd & Carleton, Cheege: S. C. Grigg & Co.
The teacher who should set up his opinion in opposition to the fact that the earth revolves upon its own axis once in twenty-four hours, would not have a more hopeless task in the attempt to prove his wisdom and sanity, than this author in his crusade against the well established fasts of Geology. His attack is upon Hagh Miler's theory that the six days of the Creation were not days in our acceptation of the word, but indefinite periods of time, in which the vast operations of Nature, which Geology has recorded, were carried on. Our readers may imagine the success that the man has in an unrtaking of that sort. He is a liter

By Marantza. Hawmons, author of the Searlet Letter, etc., in 3 years senton: Ticksor & Fleets. Chicago: S. C. Grigge, & Oc. The announcement of a new number from the pen of Hawthorne, occasions a sensation in the iterary world, not less marked than the comction of a new tale by Dickens or Thackera or a new, volume of glowing history by Macan When President Pierce did Mr. Hawthorne justice, and the reading public the unkindness of appointing him to a lucrative public station it was predicted by many angectous men of le ers that we should have nothing more from himagic pen for many years, if ever. His las publication, if we remember rightly, are issued nine years ago, yet how vivilly do the bold outlines of character and scere in the Blithedale Romanes stand forth at the mention of that marveillous picture! We judge that the take an early occasion to give our views of the Marble Flum after we have had the opportunity of carefully perusing it. TRAVEL AND STUDY IN ITALY, By Char Alary Nource, Boston: Dicknor a Fields, Chica S. C. Griggs & Co.

Travel and Study in Italy are not exact Travel and Study in Italy are not exact movelties in this age, and the person who hop to make novelties of them for the reading pulle must bring to his task qualifications of fast vivacity, or philosophical judgment, of peculi excellence. Mr. Norton's volume, without diplaying the highest order of merit in any these essentials, is a very readable book. It a straightforward, unpretentious narrative travel in Sardinia, Rome, Naples, Tuscany at Venice, interspersed with criticisms of a Venice, interspersed with criticisms of literature, society, politics and religion in of them interesting and instructive. The demand for Flour to-day was still limited, and the only inquiry made was for a few choice brands of Spring extra, the holders of which were about 10e above the views of bayers. Only a few lot fair Spring extra, chaped. closing quiet and steady—the sales of new re-cepts No. 2 Spring being at 99c in store. Old-receipts were less inquired for, and the market was quiet. Corn was in more active demand, and the market advanced 1@ 10—the inquiry being chiefly speculative. About 35,000 bushels changed hands at 44@449c for new receipts No. 2 1 in store, 424@429c for old receipts of the same grade, and 42c for new receipts No. 2 in store— the market closing firm, with buyers of No. 1 at 449c. Oats were less active, but the market was firm, and sales were made at a shade better prices—34c being paid for new receipts No. 1 in. s—24c being paid for new receipts No. 1 in, and 37 ic for No. 1 delivered. Rye firm 5c. Barley firm but inactive. Seeds un-ged. Highwines steady at 191@107c. During the past formight the weather in Illinois and Iowa has been very fine planted already.
